

These registers are GPIOs that are used when an active flow transaction is used. The 'lpmode' register has power mode if the transaction supports it.

The 'lpmode' register has power mode if the transaction supports it.

The 'lpmode' register has power mode if the transaction supports it.

The 'lpmode' register has power mode if the transaction supports it.

